welcome

directors intro...

What a season this has been!

As we come to the end of our 2021/2 season I can look back with pride on all that our players have achieved. I feel that Go-Pro is a family, gathered from over 60 nations, and has once again come together this season with one goal... to be the best that they can be and this term has certainly not disappointed.

In this issue of the Gazette we will revisit our End of Term Awards events where over 200 players gathered at 4 venues across Dubai to celebrate their successes and try out other sporting activities.

We will celebrate three Go-Pro players achieving their pro football aspirations and joining the ranks of our Alumni joining colleges in the US this fall and we look to the busy summer months ahead when 4 squads and over 60 players travel to Sweden, the UK and the USA to participate and represent Go-Pro in the international arena.

We look forward to next season where our places are already secured in the Mina Cup qualifiers and the Manchester City Abu Dhabi Cup 2023 plus we have all of the Youth Football League, Empire Evolution League and Dubai Amateur Football League action to look forward to.

Our Go-Pro App is now pending final approval in the App Store and we look forward to bringing you the good news that we are ready to launch, it has been a work in progress for close to 3 years and we are super excited by the prospect of it being in full use next season.

Finally, don't forget our super Early Bird offer for next season sign up for term 1 and get 10% discount on all term 1 training fees or sign up for the entire season and get 15% discount on all term fees, 2022-23 Season kits will be ready and waiting for you!

21-22 season alumni

#23 Isaac Foster

Isaac has been an ever present Go-Pro player for the last 7 years, joining the Go-Pro Academy in 2014 and has won major individual and team awards in various tournaments and competitions across the UAE and overseas.

Isaac has been able to play above his age group and even represented Go Pro U14s as a 12 year old. Over the past two seasons he has been a consistent performer in the U18s and Men's League (Captain of both) and also won Go-Pro's prestigious Ballon D'Or award (Best player in the academy) in 2018.

Isaac's natural football ability enables him to play a number of positions on the field and with his tremendous attitude and dedication to football he now takes the next step in his football career earning a soccer scholarship to a top D2 program Seton Hill. We wish Isaac all the best in his football career and have no doubts he will be a huge success in the states!

#24 Cleo Silvestre

Cleo has been with Go Pro for the last two years and it has been great to see how much she has progressed as a footballer. Technically she is fantastic with both feet and with her natural physical attributes she has an amazing presence on the football field. Cleo has played centre back and has been an ever present and consistent performer over the last two years. She has represented Go Pro in the U18 league, Women's League 7 aside and now the UAE FA Women's League 11 aside. She is a natural defender who I have no doubt will be a huge success at Rollins College, Florida.

#25 Ava Steven

Former Go-Pro player who played in the women's league at the age of 13 and showed great maturity playing in the centre of defence. She also represented Go Pro in the Gothia Cup and was a commanding captain who was a fantastic motivator for the team. Ava was an integral part of the Go-Pro Girls Academy for 3 years prior to signing for Delta State Mississippi in spring.

off season soccer training

Staying fit in the off-season is vital for players and coaches alike. Although the temptation might be to go on holiday and forget about fitness for a while, it's important to stay in good shape so that you're ready for the new season.

Off season soccer training has two important objectives...

1. Physical recuperation and mental respite from a strenuous season (training, tournaments, leagues as well as school and social factors)
2. Minimize any losses in strength and conditioning built up over this season

The next 7 weeks are not so much 'off season' more your transition phase between this season and the next. The worst thing you can do during this time is nothing!! Especially if you have worked hard to build up your strength and fitness levels over the last season.

Remember, maintaining 50-60% of your peak fitness level takes less effort than starting from scratch and if you do nothing from now until the end of August you will be starting from scratch.

Your 'off season' soccer training program should focus on rebalancing... Chances are you have a predominant kicking foot. You've placed some muscles, tendons and joints under the same stresses time and time again. Now it's time to focus on stabilizing neglected muscle groups.

Your off season soccer training phase should last between 4 and 6 weeks. Less is not enough time for adequate rest. More and you begin to lose significant amounts of the soccer-specific fitness gained from the previous year. Your focus should be on light aerobic endurance exercise and, in some circumstances, some resistance training.

COACH KIRK SAYS...

Over prepare but don't overwork!
After many months of hard work, pushing the limits and disciplined focus, each and every Go-Pro player needs the off season to rest, recover and prepare. The goal in off season is to not begin training for personal bests or to push yourself to the limit in the gym. The goal is to recover and then prepare the body to return to the pitch feeling fresh and ready to go in the new season.

COACH JORDAN SAYS...

"Over the summer I would recommend a break of 2- 3 weeks as you have had a long season and deserve some downtime. As we get into August you should definitely start doing some football related fitness sessions, I would suggest a fitness workout that corresponds to your position. I was a winger which involved a lot of sprinting work I often did Fartlek training sessions. The session I did mostly was "lamp post running"; this meant I would run on the roads where there are street lights, I would jog for two lamp posts and then sprint for one lamp post. As I got fitter I would then jog for 1 lamp post and then sprint for 2 lamp posts, this would normally last for 30-45 mins. Read more about Fartlek training HERE

COACH MATT SAYS...

Players should continue to work on fitness levels to ensure they are best prepared for the new season and for players travelling with squads this summer, their international experiences. Maintaining a healthy balanced diet and lifestyle as well as keeping sharp by putting in extra work away from the training field. Players should ensure they attend any extra training sessions but also pushing themselves in any free time they get to go for short sprints/long distant running

COACH JONNY SAYS...

For many players, it's can be hard to stay motivated during the off-season without a goal to work toward or training sessions to attend. Even when you have the overall goal to "stay in shape", that's not always enough to motivate on a daily basis. Setting a goal and creating a schedule to accomplish that goal is a fundamental part of your off-season training. Start by making your plan, mix it up, try something different, and try to stick to it, if one day you don't manage your workout, start again the next day... starting from scratch in the new season is not an option!
